Dear Miss Barnes,

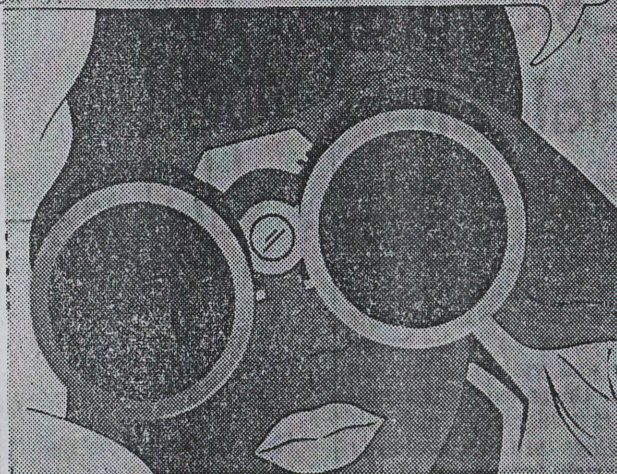

You requested that I keep you informed of my activities - Since the first of the year I have exhibited in the 1969 Exhibition Fine Arts - Massillon Museum; The Women's League of Parma Heights Show, 1969 (Factory Originals); and the Brecksville Art Guild Annual Show 1969. I was awarded the "Best of Show" in the Brecksville event.

Sincerely,

Dorothy Naples

DER WHAT WILL EN TOMORROW?

"I wonder what will happen tomorrow?" asks the goggled heroine in a pop painting-collage by Dorothy Maples to be shown this week in the Riverbed Road "Factory Originals" art bash.

BRECKSVILLE ARTIST Dorothy Maples is one of the entrants in the "Factory Originals" art show that opens Friday in the Cuyahoga River Flats area of Cleveland. Shown with her are two of her entries — a water color and a three-dimensional op art work. Approached from one side, the red-white-and blue op art beside the artist depicts the head of the Statue of Liberty. The other photo shows how it looks when approached from the other direction. Now it has become a design with 13 stars and a pinwheel. In private life, Dorothy is Mrs. Robert Maples, 6855 Westwood Dr. A craftsman at heart, she likes to work out ideas, using any media that will get the ideas across. Following this bent, she has worked in water color, oils, acrylics, and metals.
